Sofa or skyscraper?

Inspired by the exciting skyline of New York City, the new Hampton sofa is the pinnacle of urban luxury.

Its low base keeps it grounded while its innovative back cushions adapt to any situation and break up the lines, reflecting the dynamism of the city. Feet on the ground, reaching for the sky – a bit of the Big Apple in your living room.

Unsung hero

Think, for a moment, about sideboards.

They're not flashy pieces of furniture. They just stand by the wall, quietly and competently doing their job. But that doesn't mean they aren't important. They serve a vital purpose, providing space for storage and display. Sideboards are beautiful examples of harmonious design that highlight your personal style and integrate with the look of a room.

Justin Coakley – Interior Designer and Manager of the BoConcept store in Kingston – helped Clinton make the most out of his space.

At Home In...

The UK – A modern masterpiece

THE CLIENT: Clinton Dall, a successful businessman with four children and a love for art and design

THE HOME: Modernist, inspired by Mies van der Rohe's classic Barcelona Pavilion

THE MOOD: Contemporary, stylish and expressive

THE SOLUTION: A modular sofa, distinctive dining chairs and an Imola chair – a BoConcept Design Icon

The five metre Cenova sofa was customised to fit the room perfectly.

When the time came for Clinton Dall to furnish his newly-built modernist home, he knew what he wanted but was having trouble finding just the right pieces. 'When you build a house, you need to find furniture and art that's right for that house,' says Clinton. 'People ruin contemporary homes by just bringing in their furniture from the old house – it doesn't work.'

Their first challenge was the sofa. Clinton had seen many sofas on the market but nothing that quite matched his brief. With Justin's help he chose a modular Cenova sofa that was in proportion with his living area, customised in a fabric that worked with his colour scheme.

'I had lots of ideas and a clear plan, but sometimes you need someone to reconfirm your vision and Justin was a great help,' adds Clinton. Once the sofa was in place Clinton and Justin's working relationship was cemented and they moved on to find the perfect chairs to go with a custom-built dining table and some living chairs that really make an impact in front of floor-to-ceiling glass walls.

The home itself, named Pavello (Catalan for 'pavillion'), is inspired by Mies van der Rohe's legendary Barcelona Pavilion. Set on just over two hectares of land outside London, Pavello spreads its nearly 550m² across a single level under a cantilevered roof. Pavello has been featured in the UK Sunday Times as well as the Channel 4 architecture program 'Grand Designs' on British TV.

To learn more and see a film about this beautiful home visit boconcept.com.

The dining table was custom-built from Clinton's sketches and he chose the granite for the tabletop. As soon as Justin showed him the Ottawa chair in Estoril leather, they both knew it was the perfect choice – the only thing left was to find just the right colour.

When Justin suggested the Imola as a statement chair, Clinton was a bit unsure. So Justin arranged for Clinton to take a pair of them home for a test drive and he quickly realised that they were just what he was looking for.

Clinton discovered the scrap metal sculpture displayed against the end wall in South Africa. The house is a superb showcase for his extensive art collection.

Interior Designer Alexandra Möhlmann from the Friedrichstrasse store in Berlin.

At Home In...

Berlin – Urban oasis

THE CLIENT: Jessie Weiss – a leading fashion blogger – and her husband Johan Fink

THE HOME: A classic Berlin apartment filled with light

THE MOOD: Personal, relaxed and inviting

THE SOLUTION: Smart storage for the dining room, a comfortable Cenova sofa and a desk that's really at the centre of things

Jessie Weiss had a problem. The storage in her open plan kitchen/dining area was open-fronted and always felt cluttered. She knew BoConcept well – having bought lamps, accessories and some bar stools in the past – so it felt like a natural place to look for a solution. She and her husband Johan met with Alexandra, one of our Interior Designers, who recommended the Lugano storage system. They decided on a highboard, since it worked well with their apartment's high ceilings and had the bonus of giving them twice as much storage space compared to a regular sideboard.

At a meeting with Alexandra to discuss their new storage solution, Jessie and Johan happened to sit on a Cenova sofa and fell in love with it immediately. 'It's actually my favourite piece,' says Jessie. 'It's incredibly comfortable and really fits with the relaxed feel of our home.'

Jessie turned to BoConcept once again when it was time for a new desk. For a fashion blogger, style is crucial. 'As I've got older, my style has become much more personal, but I felt that Alexandra and I were on the same page from the start

– she really understood what I was looking for,' comments Jessie. When she needed a desk for her dressing room, which also serves as a home office, Cupertino was the stylish answer. Alexandra suggested placing the desk on a rug in the centre of the room, creating an island where Jessie could be surrounded by her clothes, bags and shoes.

Jessie and Johan's apartment is in the Berlin neighbourhood of Prenzlauer Berg. They chose the area because it's close to Mitte, the city centre, but still feels charming and laid back. Featuring high ceilings with original mouldings and huge windows, the apartment has plenty of room for entertaining friends – something very important to the couple.

To see a film about the apartment and learn more about the products featured, visit boconcept.com.

Jessie and Johan fell in love with Cenova's superb comfort. Since it's fully modular they created a sofa that fitted perfectly in their room, and they customised it to match their personal style.

The dressing room is very important to Jessie, and the Cupertino desk is a functional and beautiful centrepiece.

Double up

Most of us don't have the space to set aside a separate room for everything.

But simply by adding a desk, a chair and a lamp to the corner of a bedroom, it's easy to create a stylish and functional home office.

Express yourself

Accessories are a perfect way to add a personal touch and really make a room your own.

Muted shades and pastels keep the mood light and bright. Bowls, dishes and vases with rustic glazes add texture and a sense of nature.

Get Inspired

Beneath your feet

Rugs are a fantastic way to add colour and texture and they really give a room some flair.

Here's a look at the year's key trends. Glossy finishes add elegance. Texture is key – keep an eye out for mixed materials. To pump up the luxury, look for dark colours and a heavier, richer feel. Wool yarns and neutral tones create a simple but stylish effect.

Make The Most Out Of... Small spaces

Smarter, not smaller

As living spaces seem to shrink but the demands of modern living grow, it can be hard to find balance. The solution? Live smarter, not just smaller. Over the next 4 pages we'll show you how two different ways of decorating the same small apartment can transform it into a functional and exciting living space that suits your lifestyle.

STOCKHOLM SOFA

The smaller home is where multifunctional furniture really comes into its own. Why buy two when one will do? The Stockholm sofa bed is comfortable by day, practical by night and stylish around the clock.

TORINO TABLE

The Torino dining table is an excellent choice for a smaller home. Its details really set it apart, but the clear beauty of its design means that it'll never take over a room. And it's available in a variety of sizes so you can find one that's just right for your home.

Case 1:

Smarter, not smaller – 48m²

THE CLIENT WE HAD IN MIND: A younger couple creating their first home together, starting to invest in furniture

THE MOOD: Relaxed, casual and comfortable

THE SOLUTION: A stylish sofa bed is ideal when space is at a premium. A wall-mounted Cupertino desk means you can still have a small home office. Whites and pale shades make the room look bigger. Oslo folding chairs mean there's always room for guests. A simple table turns a corner into a dining room.

THE MOOD: Urban, refined and individual

THE SOLUTION: An Indivi 2 sofa in luxurious cognac leather makes a statement. An innovative bed includes plenty of space for storage. The Adelaide chair is perfect in any situation. A geometric grey cow skin rug adds visual interest and sophistication, while the Rubi is a coffee table that converts into a dining table and even folds out.

RUBI TABLE

The Rubi is seriously clever. Keep it low to use as a coffee table. Adjust it upwards to use it as a dining table. It even folds out so you've got space to entertain guests. Live smarter, not smaller.

Two comfy seats – two extra beds

Extendable dining table
The Kuwano's extendable Milano table means there's plenty of room for guests and family fun.

BoConcept Interior Design Service

Takashi helped the Kuwanos make the most out of their small apartment, turning their dreams into a reality that fits their needs as well as their lifestyle. As Mari puts it: 'Our room would have been pale and boring had we not asked for professional help.'

Small living, Tokyo-style

How do you combine running a busy, successful business with dedication to family life? Mari & Katsumi Kuwano and their five-year-old son Katsuma found balance in their own urban oasis.

The Kuwanos had considered moving out of Tokyo so they could have a bigger house with a garden, but ultimately chose to stay in the city near Katsumi's flourishing e-commerce company. That way he could enjoy more time at home with his family instead of spending it commuting to and from the office. For help making the most of their small apartment, they turned to BoConcept Interior Designer Takashi Masuda.

The couple share a taste for simplicity and both really like pure white. And while it is the perfect colour to make their space look bigger, adding some splashes of darker colours along with a mixture of textures helps to make things cosier.

Living room

'My favourite item is the sofa,' says Mari. The Indivi 2's flexibility and huge range of customisation options means it's an ideal choice for a small living room.

Denmark is home to BoConcept, and we have been producing furniture here for more than 60 years. Our years of experience and know-how provide invaluable benefits for both our production facility in Denmark as well as with our global supply chain.

It is important to us that we only work with suppliers who share our commitment to high quality and respect for the environment.
